INCIDENTS IN HARLEM.

RAPID TRANSIT; CLUB AND SOCIAL AFFAIRS. The interest in rapid transit is still maintained and the opinion is legitimately held that something really practicable is soon to be done. That the problem is not fully solved in the minds of many is shown by the multiplicity of plans that are being projected and oploited. The litest important one to attract atten-on is the Greathead system of underground electric which is said to have the qualified indors ment of Mr. Edison, who, as might be expected, looks upon applied electricity as the way and the life of all

A preliminary meeting was held at the Harlem Democratic Club-house on Tuesday evening to make arrangements for a public meeting to discuss the rapid-transit question. All the prominent political clubs in Harlem were represented either by delegates or by letter, and great enthusiasm and unanimity of ng were displayed. President Campbell, of the Johnston, of the Lexington Democratic Club, acted as secretary. After some discussion it was decided to hold the public meeting in the half of the Harlem Democratic Club on Saturday evening of this week. Cyrus L. Sulzberger, Charles H. Preyer, Mr. Aldhaus and R. A. Johnston were appointed a committee of arrangements, and Robert T. Dyas, Joseph Cotter, S. L. Frey and Mr. Sulzberger were made a comm ordan L. Mott says that no work, not entirely religious, of more importance than rapid transit, could be undertaken by the people of Harlem. The meeting of Saturday night will doubtless be large, and certainly important.

The installation of the recently elected officers the Harlem Republican Club took place on Tuesday night. After the reports of the outgoing officers and ommittees had been received, the president-elect, Washington Winsor, was escorted to the chair. uming the presidency, Mr. Winsor made a neat and effective speech, which was well received, and closed by suggesting that the name of the club be changed to the Harlem Union League, which suggestion was referred to the executive committee. The names of the other officers installed Tuesday have been so many times printed that there is no need to reproduce the The report of the executive committee, recommending the expulsion of H. M. Herzog, for personal, not politi cal, reasons, was adopted by a unanimous vote, and the disagrecable duty was performed without remarks Herzog has threatened suit, but club-members doubt if he will take any such action. A. B. Hum-phrey announced that he would at the next meeting nove an amendment providing for a financial secretary for the club, and an amendment previously offered was passed providing that henceforth the trensurer should assume his office January 1 of each year. Resolutions introduced by H. C. Rebinson, indorsing the Federal Election bill, were passed, and the following committee was appointed to take the resolutions to Washington: Winsor, H. W. Combs, Henry C. Robinson, H. C. Calkin and A. M. Underhill. Another resolution was passed favoring the subsidy bills now pending in Congress, F. M. Patrick, C. B. Pierce and E. M. Cutler were appointed a committee to represent the club it the joint movement for rapid transit. New members were elected as follows: Walter L. Sessions, ir., George H. White, of Fridonia; Charles P. Ingersoil, Charles W. Manchester, Samuel Swayze and Charles A. Kimball. Mr. Sessions is a son of ex-Congressman Cessions of Chautauqua County, and has recently established himself as a lawyer in this city.

The club is not unlikely to be in the new club-house by the first of murch. Its prospects for the year are exceedingly bright and promising

At the Hamilton Republican Club meeting Monday night, a resolution opposing free silver coinage was proposed, and after some discussion which showed that the club was not quite a unit on the question the matter was laid over until last night for further Holiha To-morrow night, the Rev. Madison C. Peters will lecture to the club on the interesting topic of "From Hell Gate to the Golden Gate." The Hamilton's membership is steadily increasing.

that the two cruisers Philadelphia and Chicago would go to sea from the Navy Yard yesterday But the storm which prevailed here was so severe that it was decided to wait for better weather rather than burn coal in heavy weather needlessly. On the Philadelphia, the flagship of the North Atlantic Squadron, the order was yesterday that the vessel should sail this morning. It was expected that the ship would start for the West Indies last week, but telegraphic orders were received that she should be detained until Rear-Admiral Gherardi's return from Washington. The reason for this was that Admiral Gherardi, the commandant of the squadron, might receive further instructions from Sec retary Tracy with regard to the agreement between the Clyde Steamship Line and the Haytian Gov ernment, and also with regard to carrying about 200 tons of water in the ship's bottom to give the vessel greater stability. The vessel is now all ready to sail. Her bunkers are full of coal, she is stored with provisions to last several months, in cold weather. The cruiser Yorktown, of the town had been in or near the Navy Yard for had been made to her. Her steering-gear had been repaired, and the quarters and mess-roon the vessel left the yard she had been in the which she was taken out and her bunkers filled the North River, and also was the vessel deputed to escort them down the Bay and to fire the final epairs on the auxiliary machinery.

The cruiser Boston, the fourth vessel of this squadron, has been put into the granite dry-dock in the Navy Yard. Her bottom is to be sempeand painted and the valves are to be repaired The Meliniess paint is to be put on one side of the bottom and another point on the other side to coat of white paint put on. This job, however is to be done by the ship's men and not by the about the rudder. The bushings about the pintle of the rudder were found to be worn and new ongs are to be put in. The hause-pipe on the starogard side was broken last winter while the vessel was at Tangiers; a new custing has been made and is now being put in place. The parts of the engines are being collected and are to be fastened into place. The crank shaft, which has recently been put in to replace that one which was broken is now in position. It is expected about the first of next month. The other preparations will then be made, and it is though that the vessel will be able to start for sea to join the rest of the squadron about the middle of

The dynamite cruiser Vesuvius is moored along side of the barbette turfeted Terror, in the berth formerly occupied by the Boston. While she is here the auxiliary condenser is to be put in, and he nose of the vessel, which was bent in collision while she was at anchor in the North River several weeks ago, is to be regained. The reconstruction work on the monitor Terror advances rapidly. The superstructure of the Maine is rapidly being constructed. The casting of the stern post of the Cincinnati is soon to be hoisted into position. The big, heavy piece of metal now lies position. The big, heavy piece of metal now lies alongside of the vessel, white some of the preparatory work is being done. The work on the rest of the vessel advances favorably. A dock steam trial of the engines and boilers of the corvette Yantic is to be held to-morrow. The changes in the engines which were found to be necessary at the last trial have been made, and it is hoped that now everything will work properly. The grip is now epidemic on board the vessel. Four of the officers and several of the crew are sick with it, and the sick-list, which generally contains about two names, now has twelve. It is said that the vessel lies in a bad place in the yard, and that this is the cause of the troublesome sickness. When the vessel will go it still a puzzle to the officers. The work of roofing over and elapboarding the sides of the receiving-ship Minnesota, at the Navy Yard, is almost completed.

Commodore Ramssy, chief of the Bureau of Navigation, has sent instructions to commandants of all receiving-ships that a thousand new enlistments will be required within the next sixty days, in order to make up the complement of the new vessels about to be put into commission, and for several old vessels, among whose crews there are a large number who must soon be discharged on account of the expiration of their terms of enlistment. Among these new vessels are the cruiser Newark, which recently had alongside of the vessel, while some of the pre-

Department, she will probably be accepted and at once go to the Navy Yard to be fitted out. The double-turreted monitor Miantonomah is at the Navy Yard and is nearly ready to go into commission, but as she will not be sent on a foreign cruise no embarrassment will be caused if she doesn't get her crew at once.

The old wooden cruisers Swatara and Marion are at the Mare Island Navy Yard being made ready for another cruise, probably in the Chinese and Japanese waters, and the Omaha, now at Yokohama, will need a new crew in about two months. No special anxiety is felt relative to the scarcity of men, but there is to be a renewed effort toward re-enlistments of the old men, and it is believed that with what Congress has done already toward improving their status and what further is expected to be done, very many of the best men will continue in the service.

The news coming from Washington that the new cruiser San Francisco is not to be assigned as flagship of the Asiatic Squadron, as it was first intended, but should remain in the Pacific Squadron for the time being, at least, was a surprise to many of the officers at the Navy Yard, especially to some who apprehend that they may be now ordered to the flagship Omaha, now in the Asiatic Squadron, which was about to be ordered home. The report that the Lancaster, now being repaired at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, may be ordered to relieve the Omaha, got much credence. The Lancaster was being fitted out as a gunnery ship for the special training of enlisted men in the handling of modern guns, Congress having made a special appropriation for that purpose. A special battery has been constructed for the gunnery practice-ship at the Washington Navy Yard. Commander Colley M. Chester, who had been practically determined upon as her commander, and the other officers selected because of their fitness as special instructors, are naturally anxious to know whether they will have to make a three years' cruise in China and Japan waters instead. three years' cruise in China and Japan water

Secretary Tracy has informed Mayor Chapin that the City of Brooklyn may nurchase the Navy Yard and Naval Hospital lands as described by the Act of Congress approved July 2, 1840, at the price fixed by the Board of Appraisers, and that a deed conveying the property in question will be made out at as early a date as may be practicable. The area of this land includes about 170 city lots, of which the appraised value is about two millions of dollars. The Brooklyn people have to thank tongressman Wallace, whose re-election they defeated in November and sent a Free Frader instead, for securing this tract of twenty acres of Brooklyn's market facilities, and that city promises soon to have a well-guipped market on the Navy Yard waste lands, giving the people access to their own water-front and cheapening the supplies carried in boats. The Government purchased this land about forty years ago for less than $20,000, but in that time the value of the property has been enhanced through the prosperity and industry of the city that has grown up around the Navy Yard by reason of the Government employing so many mechanies and laborers. Plassed Assistant Engineer Herschel Main, who a week ago was defacialed from the dynamite cruiser Vesucius and ordered as a member of the Experimental Board of Legineers, has been again detached and ordered to the Boston, to relieve Assistant Engineer W. D. Weaver, who goes to the Experimental Board. Leutenant Albert Mertz has been detached from the Minnesota and ordered to the Patric.
